EDITOR'S LETTER

I'm a huge movie fan. To me, Friday never meant the end of the workweek or school week, or even the beginning of a relaxing weekend. It was always the day new movies opened! It still is, but now Friday is also when Netflix drops its latest shows. What's also true now: TV is the most dynamic entertainment medium on the planet. You can spend two hours at home in front of your television (or other screens!)—watching your favorite shows or discovering new ones from the endless array of choices—and be just as engaged and fulfilled (you laughed! you cried!) as with any two hours at a movie theater. Read a good book lately? Well, someone is most likely figuring out how to make it into a limited series. And these billion-dollar companies like Google and Facebook and Apple? Seems taking over the world isn't enough for them. They want to make TV shows too. What about those big stars you're happy to spend money to see on the silver screen? They are now just as likely to appear in your home on the small screen (see "Blockbuster Leads," page 34).

All this creative energy still peaks in autumn, the official beginning of the television season. Our annual Fall Preview is still the best place to find a sneak peek at all the new programs. We've got 46 shows for you, including every single broadcast premiere and top picks from cable, premium cable and the streamers. And by the time you've marked down all the new shows you want to catch, it'll be time to pick up Returning Favorites, our biggest issue of the year!

Enjoy!

America's top TV critic Matt Roush answers your burning questions

For everything TV does wrong with reboots and spinoffs, they just got one right with the spinoff of Sue Heck (Eden Sher) from The Middle. Hopefully it's even half as good as The Middle and will stick around awhile. —Jedidia

MATT ROUSH: This does take some of the sting out of my favorite family comedy's departure this year. Now that ABC has officially ordered a pilot that reportedly will follow Sue in her young adult life and career as she leaves Orson for the big city of Chicago, my hopes are high. (Also wishing that her sibs, parents and other assorted Middle characters—Brad!—will visit on occasion.) While I concede that TV is overrun with spinoffs and reboots, I can think of few characters and actors who are more deserving of the spotlight.

I've got a great idea. With all of the new/old shows making a comeback, how about bringing back The Closer with Kyra Sedgwick, since the spinoff Major Crimes with Captain Raydor (Mary McDonnell) has now ended? I really enjoyed the original. What do you think? —Carole

MATT ROUSH: I loved Sedgwick as Brenda Leigh Johnson on The Closer, but it feels awfully soon for a comeback. If you count Major Crimes (which ended its run in January), the franchise has only recently gone away. Between the two series, more than 200 episodes were filmed over 13 collective seasons, which is a solid legacy. If she chose to reprise the role, I know I'd watch, but I'm not counting on it, and it seems greedy to even lobby for it.

The Falcons and Eagles went head-to-head in last year's playoffs

ARE YOU READY FOR SOME FOOTBALL?

BY RYAN A. BERENZ

PRESEASON IS OVER, and hopefully your team made it through without losing half its starters to injury. Now come the main events, as football's regular season begins Thursday, Sept. 6, with the Atlanta Falcons versus defending Super Bowl champion Philadelphia Eagles.

Just as Cleveland Browns standout Baker Mayfield and other rookies are looking for gridiron glory, expect some fresh coverage onscreen. Thursday Night Football heads to Fox, which has a five-year deal to simulcast the games with NFL Network starting in Week 4. Joe Buck handles play-by-play alongside analyst Troy Aikman and reporters Erin Andrews and Kristina Pink. ESPN's Monday Night Football debuts a new broadcast team as Joe Tessitore, Jason Witten, Booger McFarland and Lisa Salters make their regular-season debuts Week 1 in Oakland. And to once again ensure the national games are worth watching late in the season, the NFL has applied a flex schedule to Saturday matchups on NFL Network in Weeks 15–16. Here are six games not to miss.

Atlanta Falcons at Philadelphia Eagles Thursday, Sept. 6, 8:20/7:20c, NBC

Nick Foles? Carson Wentz? No matter who starts at quarterback, the Eagles hope this rematch of last season's hard-fought NFC divisional playoff game (won by the Eagles 15–10) will put their "destiny" 2017 season on repeat.

Rodgers

Los Angeles Rams at Oakland Raiders Monday, Sept. 10, 10:20/9:20c, ESPN

In Game 2 of ESPN's Week 1 doubleheader, network ex-analyst Jon Gruden returns as Raiders head coach. Now, "Chucky" must engineer a Silver and Black resurrection after a 6–10 season. This game against quarterback Jared Goff and the surging Rams may prove to be an early test.

In the News

Philadelphia Eagles at Jacksonville Jaguars Sunday, Oct. 28, 9:30am/8:30c, NFL Network
You'll have to wake up early to catch this face-off, which is taking place at London's Wembley Stadium. The Brits finally get to see a good one, with Jacksonville coming off an AFC championship game appearance to face the defending champs.

New Orleans Saints at Minnesota Vikings Sunday, Oct. 28, 8:20/7:20c, NBC
The Saints will have the "Minneapolis Miracle" on their minds as they return to the scene of their January NFC divisional playoff loss to the Vikings 29–24 when a last-second whiffed tackle snatched defeat from the jaws of victory. Expect a scorcher.

Green Bay Packers at New England Patriots Sunday, Nov. 4, 8:20/7:20c, NBC
If the Patriots' Tom Brady and the Packers' Aaron Rodgers are both healthy at this point in the season, a duel between two of the game's best—on teams with Super Bowl potential—may be a high-scoring nail-biter where turnovers spell the difference.

Philadelphia Eagles at Los Angeles Rams Sunday, Dec. 16, 8:20/7:20c, NBC
The Week 15 matchup between two of the NFC's elites could have "first round bye" implications for playoff seeding—and it might be a preview of a contest we'll see in January.

Bye-Bye, Big Bang!

THE FINAL "BAZINGA!" is coming. On August 22, Warner Bros. Television, Chuck Lorre Productions and CBS announced that long-running hit The Big Bang Theory will end after its upcoming 12th season. "We, along with the cast, writers and crew, are extremely appreciative of the show's success and aim to deliver a final season, and series finale, that will bring The Big Bang Theory to an epic creative close," the companies said in a statement. The comedy will wrap as the longest-running multicamera sitcom in TV history with a record-breaking 279 episodes.

After news broke of the impending farewell, cast members shared their feelings on social media. "Drowning in tears, we promise to bring you the best season yet...we are goin' out with a bang," Kaley Cuoco (Penny) posted on Instagram. Kunal Nayyar (Raj) also Instagrammed, "This isn't goodbye... yet...still 23 episodes to shoot!"

When the series began in 2007, who knew that a group of Pasadena, California–based science nerds—Leonard (Johnny Galecki), Sheldon (Jim Parsons), Howard (Simon Helberg) and Raj—plus their out-of-their-league neighbor, aspiring actress Penny, would strike such a chord with viewers? Big Bang wasn't a hit out of the gate (it ranked 68th in its first season), but by Season 4, it was the No. 1 comedy in total viewers and has remained at the top ever since.

The awards ultimately came pouring in too, with Parsons taking home four Emmys as Outstanding Lead Actor in a Comedy between 2010 and 2014. And while the show has never nabbed a trophy for Outstanding Comedy Series, it's racked up a total of 52 Emmy nominations and 10 wins.

Also award-worthy: the actors' tight relationships offscreen. Last year, Parsons, Galecki, Cuoco, Helberg and Nayyar each took a $100,000-per-episode pay cut (from $1 million per episode) to help costars Mayim Bialik (Amy) and Melissa Rauch (Bernadette) earn sizable raises.

Season 12 of The Big Bang Theory premieres Monday, Sept. 24, 8/7c, CBS, before moving to its Thursday 8/7c timeslot on Sept. 27. Among the stories to wrap up, maybe they'll finally fix that broken elevator? —Jim Halterman

THE GOLDBERGS

HOW SWEET IT is when '80s-era sitcom The Goldbergs kicks off Season 6 (Wednesday, September 26, 8/7c, ABC) with an homage to Sixteen Candles, the John Hughes classic starring Molly Ringwald. As in the movie, the episode begins with Adam (Sean Giambrone, left) realizing his family—totally consumed by the pending nuptials of eldest brother Barry (Troy Gentile)—has completely forgotten his milestone birthday. What's a guy to do? Throw a party, of course, à la the famous rager hosted by ultimate cool kid Jake Ryan (Michael Schoeffling, inset, with Ringwald) in the flick. Alas, the festivities quickly spiral out of control. "Adam realizes he's made a huge mistake," says executive producer and writer Alex Barnow. "What he thought was going to be an incredible opportunity to finally be socially relevant actually results in the destruction of his home." —Ingela Ratledge

IS THERE ANY fight Jane can't win? Blindspot's Season 4 premiere (Friday, October 12, 8/7c, NBC) finds her channeling Uma Thurman's character in Kill Bill—all through her dangerous alter ego! Unbeknownst to her FBI colleagues, Jane (Jaimie Alexander, above) has reverted to her former persona Remi after a brush with a memory-wiping drug. That leads her to Tokyo in pursuit of a villain, with help from crime lord Rich Dotcom (Ennis Esmer). "We open with epic shots of the Tokyo Tower," Alexander says of filming on location. And what would a trip to Japan be without a samurai battle? "I fight four guys with one sword, then I fight a woman with two swords," Alexander says, giving props to her "incredible" stunt double, Heidi Germaine Schnappauf. "I did a good amount, but she did most of it. The samurai experts showed her so much respect." —John Russell

Milloy is set to cook and dish

Let's Eat
Sundays, 9am/8c, Food Network

BRANDI MILLOY

WITH A POPULAR blog and the YouTube channel PopSugar Food, Brandi Milloy is skilled at blending kitchen tricks and social media trends. That puts the big-time foodie right at home alongside chef Stuart O'Keeffe and Southern-style innovator Jamika Pessoa as hosts of new recipe and lifestyle show Let's Eat. "The key is having that great relationship," Milloy says of the trio. "We're always laughing. Jamika is a prankster and Stuart and I are huge Taylor Swift fans, so we drive everyone crazy dancing and singing." Their camaraderie over a well-cooked meal is addictive to watch, while they share what's hot both in the kitchen and in the culinary world. Milloy preps some personal faves.

How would you describe your cooking style? Fun, easy, approachable recipes. I'm a self-taught at-home cook. So, it has to work with real life. I'm also a mom to a 1-year-old, and I love hosting my friends. A lot of my style comes from making food that makes people smile. The best compliment is when everyone is quiet [while eating] and all you hear is this tiny "mmm." That really brings me a lot of joy.

What tips do you have for cooking for a large group? When I cook for a crowd, I always do as much as I can ahead of time, so I can actually host and be part of the conversation. Also, I love making big platters or self-serving food, like slow-cooker tacos. I set out all the toppings and have my guests serve themselves.

Are there any trends right now that you're hooked on? Asian food. I have a Filipino background and it's cool to see halo-halo and all these taro flavors making a resurgence.

You're known for meals made with staple ingredients. What do you always have on hand? Definitely dry pasta. When you know how to make an awesome sauce out of canned tomato paste and fresh herbs, olive oil and high-quality cheese, you can do so much. And I always have refrigerated biscuits.

How do you, Jamika and Stuart make working together look so effortless? It's about everyone having their role, just like if you were cooking with your family. Someone's on chopping duty; someone else is stirring or setting the table. Everyone knows their role and it's this beautiful choreography in the kitchen.

GRILLED BRIE AND STRAWBERRIES

Milloy calls this delectable appetizer a "party favorite." Plus, it's weather-proof. "It's something you can do on a grill pan inside the home or on the grill outside," she adds.

Serves 6–8

Ingredients

One 8.8-ounce wheel of Brie
2 tablespoons peanut oil
8 ounces strawberries, hulled and sliced in half lengthwise
¼ cup packed light brown sugar
3 sprigs fresh thyme
Pinch fleur de sel
Pinch red pepper flakes
Crackers, for serving
Balsamic glaze, for drizzling (optional)

Directions

Preheat a grill or grill pan to medium-high heat. Brush Brie with some oil. Grill until softened and grill marks appear, 3 to 4 minutes per side. Carefully transfer to a serving platter or board. Toss the strawberries and brown sugar in a bowl until coated. Brush grill with remaining oil and add strawberries cut-side down. Grill until the sugar is caramelized and the strawberries are tender, 1 to 2 minutes per side. Arrange strawberries around and on top of the Brie. Garnish with thyme and sprinkle with fleur de sel and red pepper flakes. Serve warm with crackers. Try a drizzle of balsamic glaze for a decadent touch.

The Roush Review

This Season, TV Gets Personal

NO MEDIUM HAS changed more in recent years than television. How we watch: streaming, downloads, the almighty binge. Where we watch: Hello, bottomless pool of Netflix! Even when we watch, with rarely a break between so-called seasons in a nonstop and overwhelming flow of programming.

But as we assess, in our yearly tradition, a heaping new lineup of fall TV, what hasn't changed is why we watch: The shows that matter are the ones that make us care. Echoing the breakout series from the past two years—NBC's This Is Us and ABC's The Good Doctor—the most promising provide strong emotional hooks, in a variety of genres, to help cut through TV's clutter.

Even comedies can give you a lump in the throat. You'll have to wait until November for my favorite, Netflix's The Kominsky Method, but it's worth it. This marvelously melancholy meditation on aging, from The Big Bang Theory's Chuck Lorre (a personal best), stars Michael Douglas and Alan Arkin in top form as an acting teacher and legendary Hollywood agent who've both seen better days. As these endearing curmudgeons endure loss and life's humiliating aches and pains, you may not know whether to laugh or cry. (Both responses are acceptable.)

Same goes for Amazon Prime Video's entrancing romantic comedy Forever, starring Saturday Night Live veterans Maya Rudolph and Fred Armisen in a uniquely affecting exploration of love over the very long haul. To say more would give too much away, but I devoured the entire season in a state of dazed bliss. I wish I were as attached to Jim Carrey's creepily depressed kiddie host from Showtime's Kidding or Jennifer Garner's uptight wife in HBO's off-putting Camping. They and their shows are more unpleasant than amusing.

High-concept dramas with sci-fi leanings also aim for the emotional jugular. NBC's intriguing Manifest is built around one of those cosmic mysteries you worry will never pay off—what happened to a flight that vanished for five and a half years before landing?—but it's just as compellingly invested in the impact on the lives forever changed by this weird phenom. Even better is Hulu's The First, starring an excellent Sean Penn. Grounded in realism, the eight-parter tells of preparations for a manned mission to Mars that's clouded by tragedy and complicated by all-too-human conflict.

Strong emotional hooks are an effective way to cut through the clutter

On a lighter note, CBS's charming God Friended Me takes a more earnest approach to its whimsical parable. The Mayor's charismatic Brandon Micheal Hall is an atheist who's suddenly guided to perform do-good missions by messages from a possibly divine social-media account Tagged by a Deity? Good heavens.

MURPHY BROWN

Less fancifully, The CW's All American contains appealing elements of Friday Night Lights and The O.C. in its sudsy DNA, when a high school football prodigy (Daniel Ezra) is recruited from his South L.A. neighborhood to a swank Beverly Hills squad by coach Taye Diggs. Full hearts and moist eyes are the norm on the new drama most obviously influenced by This Is Us: ABC's tear-jerking, smartly cast buddy soap A Million Little Things, about a group of complacent friends rocked into poignant self-examination when one of the gang inexplicably kills himself. Will the suicide premise turn viewers off? Remains to be seen. It's often hard to predict which shows can sustain over time.

Procedural crime and medical dramas tend to be easier sells. Especially when the lead is as engaging as Castle's Nathan Fillion in ABC's The Rookie, as a 40-year-old "walking midlife crisis" seeking new purpose as a fledgling LAPD cop. His humor and pathos make this the best of an otherwise generic and overly familiar lot that includes CBS's gritty FBI and NBC's pious New Amsterdam, starring The Blacklist's Ryan Eggold as the saintly but annoyingly smug savior of a New York City public hospital.

For the flip side of heroism, Lifetime's gripping You digs addictively deep into the psyche of a dangerously obsessed romantic (Gossip Girl's Penn Badgley) who goes to great, grisly lengths to snare a winsome aspiring writer (Elizabeth Lail). Hard to look away from, even when you want to.

And is there a trend more pervasive on TV than nostalgia? Rising above a tepid batch of new network comedies, ABC's The Kids Are Alright flashes back to the 1970s to introduce a bustling Irish-Catholic family that makes The Goldbergs look tame. Mary McCormack and Michael Cudlitz are hilarious as the tough-love parents of eight unruly lads.

Otherwise, it's a parade of reboots (CBS's flashy but hollow Magnum P.I., The CW's Charmed), spinoffs (FX's Mayans M.C., The CW's Legacies) and one revival whose renewed timeliness is inarguable: CBS's classic Murphy Brown, with a mission to mine laughs from our turbulent "fake news" times.

Baymax Dreams

Saturday, Sept. 15, DisneyNOW, Disney Channel, YouTube

When androids go to sleep at night, do they dream of robotic sheep? Turns out that's an affirmative, according to this delightful batch of animated mini-episodes inspired by Disney's Big Hero 6 superhero movie and its Emmy-nominated TV spinoff. Taking a break from the crime-fighting action at the fictional San Fransokyo Institute of Technology, these three new streaming shorts set out to reveal exactly what goes through the head (or is that operating system?) of Baymax, our favorite amorphous cyborg, as he's catching ZZZs.

Since Baymax Dreams was animated with cutting-edge digital software—the kind that's typically used for video games—the clips closely resemble the Oscar-winning film but still retain the warm heart and soul of the more traditionally rendered Disney Channel series. And it's those very qualities that have the cast singing the show's praises for drawing outside the lines of the average cartoon. Season 1 "was serialized with a main villain and a long arc," notes Saturday Night Live veteran Brooks Wheelan, who voices goofy SFIT mascot Fred. "It's more like a comic book."

Both the shorts and the series serve to further flesh out the costumed misfits at the center of the Big Hero 6 story, giving fans something more to cheer for than just frenzied chase scenes and goofy gadgetry. Confirms Khary Payton (the voice of über-organized student Wasabi), "There's been a beautiful development of relationships between all of the characters." In other words: Sweet Dreams are made of this!

SEASON PREMIERE

Saturday, Sept. 8, 9/8c, Discovery Family

Buddy Valastro may be the Cake Boss, but for his newest cooking competition, it's his nearest and dearest who are getting the job done. Each week, teams of families—some are pros, others are home hobbyists—face off in a series of baking challenges (like Mary Farhat, above left, and Izzy Farhat), all while being mentored and then judged by Buddy and members of the Valastro brood. The Great American Read

SEASON PREMIERE

Tuesday, Sept. 11, 8/7c, PBS (check local listings at pbs.org)

From 1984 to Wuthering Heights—and the 50 Shades of page-turners in between—this series is all about saluting our favorite books. (Think: American Idol for the literary crowd.) After launching with a special back in May to reveal the 100 novels in contention, the eight-part Read, hosted by Meredith Vieira (below), returns to tally up the nationwide votes (pbs.org/the-great-american-read/vote). On the path to crowning the champ, the episodes will showcase the different genres represented and feature famous authors opining about their own faves. "We want to remind people that it's cool to read," says Vieira. "They need to remember how wonderful it is to fall in love with a piece of fiction."

Magnum P.I.

PREMIERES
Monday, Sept. 24, 9/8c CBS

DON'T BOTHER LOOKING out for that signature 'stache. When CBS debuts Magnum P.I.—its reboot of the 1980–88 crime drama starring charismatic Tom Selleck (inset)—Jay Hernandez (right) will be stepping into the role of Thomas Magnum sporting only a modest goatee. "Giving me a moustache would have backfired!" says Hernandez. "You can't replace Tom."

Fair enough, but plenty of other iconic elements are coming back, like the ex–Navy SEAL turned private eye's absurdly luxe surroundings. (For the uninitiated, Magnum lives in a guest cottage at Robin's Nest, the Hawaiian estate of a wealthy, enigmatic novelist, where he moonlights as a security consultant.) "The essence of the show will be the same," confirms executive producer Peter Lenkov, who has also helmed successful updates of Hawaii Five-0 and MacGyver for CBS. "We've looked for anything we could do to keep the original building blocks while making this feel like it deserves to exist in 2018." We'll drink an Old Dusseldorf longneck to that! —Jim Halterman

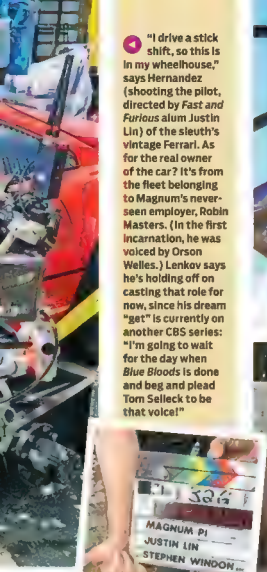
"I drive a stick shift, so this is in my wheelhouse," says Hernandez (shooting the pilot, directed by Fast and Furious alum Justin Lin) of the sleuth's vintage Ferrari. As for the real owner of the car? It's from the fleet belonging to Magnum's never-seen employer, Robin Masters. (In the first incarnation, he was voiced by Orson Welles.) Lenkov says he's holding off on casting that role for now, since his dream "get" is currently on another CBS series: "I'm going to wait for the day when Blue Bloods is done and beg and plead Tom Selleck to be that voice!"



When not busy helping his pal Magnum out of jams, T.C. (Stephen Hill, right, with Hernandez and Zachary Knighton) runs Island Hoppers, a helicopter tour company on Oahu. (And yes, a Hawaii Five-0 crossover is already in the works.)

This time around, Higgins—the cantankerous majordomo of Robin's Nest, formerly played by the late John Hillerman—is Juliet Higgins (Perdita Weeks, with steadicam operator Larry "Doc" Karmen), a former MI6 agent. Naturally, Magnum will get under her skin...but could their sparring lead to romance? Teases Lenkov, "We have to get her to respect him first!"

Isn't it bromantic? Magnum is closely bonded to both T.C. and Rick (Knighton, center), a crafty nightclub owner. With good reason: The trio of vets survived Afghanistan—and a POW nightmare—together. "Coming into this, I was like, 'Who are my boys going to be?' Because that's a big part of the dynamic," says Hernandez. "I love these guys already. We spend every day off set with each other!"

EDITORS' PICK

AFTER 20 YEARS off the air, Murphy Brown is the latest in a flood of iconic TV shows aiming for a successful revival. The 1988–98 sitcom—which starred Candice Bergen (right and below, with the original cast) as a Motown-loving reporter on the TV newsmagazine FYI—earned 18 Emmys, as well as the disapproval of Vice President Dan Quayle when Murphy became a single mother. Bergen goes on the record.

Why revive your series now? People had talked to us about it over the last few years, and [creator] Diane English and I always said, "Why? We did it already." But now, because of the election, frankly, it seemed the right time.

What's Murphy's latest gig? She was bored being retired and launched Murphy in the Morning, a roundtable news show on the CNC cable network. Faith Ford [reporter Corky Sherwood], Joe Regalbuto [reporter Frank Fontana] and Grant Shaud [executive producer Miles Silverberg] are all back in their old FYI positions.

Who's new to the cast? Murphy's son, Avery [Jake McDorman], is a journalist on the conservative Wolf network. Mom is very competitive. Pat [Nik Dodani] is our social media guru, and Tyne Daly plays Phyllis, the new owner of Phil's Bar & Grill.

Do you expect the show to raise the ire of influential folks as it did with Quayle? We do not begin on a timid note. The show is tart and intelligent, and it and Murphy are back with their edges still serrated. That said, while we'll be taking pokes at what's going on, we'd like to be a unifier, eventually. —Ileane Rudolph

Legacies

EXECUTIVE PRODUCER JULIE Plec likes to call her latest fantasy series spinoff The Vampire Diaries: The Next Generation. Set at the Salvatore Boarding School for the Young & Gifted, which is named for TVD's beloved bloodsucker siblings, Legacies follows the student supernaturals brought together by headmaster Alaric Saltzman (Matt Davis). "The idea is, if you can get someone when they're young, it can make the difference between [their becoming] a hero or a villain," she says. Which is pretty important when it comes to hormone-filled teens with powers.

Center stage is The Originals' Hope Mikaelson (Danielle Rose Russell, above, with Davis), who was saved after her werewolf/vampire hybrid parents sacrificed themselves two years earlier. Now the unique 17-year-old—she also has witch genes—is the school's only "tribrid," possessing extraordinary abilities but also the fear that using them could result in disaster. Her classmates include Saltzman's witchy twins Josie (Kaylee Bryant) and Lizzie (Jenny Boyd), newly turned werewolf Rafael (Peyton Alex Smith) and fun-loving vampire MG (Quincy Fouse). Rafael's foster brother, Landon (Aria Shahghasemi), a human, also tags along with the mystical gang.

As for foes, this season's big bad will be revealed in the premiere. "During the first six episodes, we'll be trying to figure out what exactly this enemy wants and what our heroes can do to stop it," Plec says. Let's hope this supergroup won't be tempted to test out life on the dark side! —Ileane Rudolph

NEVER FEAR, CASTLE fans. Nathan Fillion's new character has one key thing in common with his beloved former role. "John Nolan and Richard Castle have the same amazing hair!" the actor crows. In ABC's drama The Rookie, inspired by a true story, he plays the oldest new recruit in the Los Angeles Police Department. Fillion gives us his witness statement.

Nolan is 40, divorced and a dad. What else? His construction job was never his dream, and he wants to be relevant. LAPD is one of the few police departments that will take you over age 37. He's optimistic and wants to give everyone the benefit of the doubt, but he's entering a world where people will hurt you as soon as look at you
What preparation did you do? I met the original guy, but we're not trying to reflect his life. We're chasing a big bowl of starting over. There's a cultural shift: People reboot at 40. We also train with police consultants and have them on set to make sure we lend reality to procedures.
How are you handling the physical demands? There's a lot of running, jumping, struggling and fighting. My knees are not so great. If I have to run down the street super-duper fast and you don't see my face, it's the [stunt] guy
You're 47. Did you ever feel out of touch with your younger costars? I rented a karaoke machine and had the cast over. I didn't know more than half the songs they knew, and they knew maybe half that I grew up with. But I don't have time for new stuff! I'm a little cranky and older. I'm a creature of habit.
What have you learned? We don't see a lot of good news about police officers. But police are here for a reason—for many it's a calling—and there are good officers who want to serve and protect. —Kate Hahn

WATCH MY SHOW

LIL REL HOWERY is keeping it real—by starring in and executive producing a comedy based on his own life. In Rel, the Get Out breakout plays a newly separated father jumping back into the world of dating and learning how to be a long-distance dad after his ex moves his kids from Chicago to Cleveland. With him on this comedic journey are his overly proud father (Sinbad), former jailbird brother (Jordan L. Jones) and outspoken best friend (Jessica "Jess Hilarious" Moore). Howery tells it like it is.

I have time to watch one more show. Why should it be yours?
If you need a good laugh, this is definitely going to be that show.

What's a good alternate title for Rel?
The Rel Show

How will Rel change the face of television?
I don't know if I'm changing the face of television, but I am adding a flavor to the sitcom world that we haven't seen before.

What's your dream storyline for the show?
We're actually working on it now. It's about my relationship with my mom. You'll see me reminisce and talk about some things that are important to me.

Which character on Rel would be most likely to watch the show?
I think they would all love it because it's for everybody.

Fill in the blank: If you like ___, you'll like our show.
Look, if you love—not even like, but love—family, then you'll love our show. —John Russell

HAPPY TOGETHER

PREMIERES
Monday, Oct. 1,
8 / CBS

TRUTH REALLY IS stranger than fiction—and funnier too. On Happy Together, thirtysomething married couple Claire (Amber Stevens West) and Jake (Damon Wayans Jr.) find their staid suburban existence turned upside down when his accounting client, pop star Cooper James (Felix Mallard, above left, with West and Wayans), suddenly moves in. The premise is inspired by a period when One Direction heartthrob Harry Styles sought refuge in the home of TV producer Ben Winston and his wife. (Styles and Winston are both exec producers.) "Harry asked if he could stay for a couple weeks and ended up living with them for [about a year and a half]," says executive producer Tim McAuliffe.

Like Styles, Cooper relishes the chance to experience regular domestic life, with his dorky yet lovable hosts' thriving relationship as the sitcom's focal point. "We're going to tell simple, relatable stories," says executive producer Austen Earl. "What starts as an odd experiment ends as a family." —Ingela Ratledge

PREMIERES

THE NEIGHBORHOOD

WHERE'S THE WELCOME mat? On this CBS sitcom, New Girl's Max Greenfield plays the perennially cheerful Dave Johnson, a white conflict management specialist who moves wife Gemma (Beth Behrs) and their young son from the Midwest to a predominantly black area of L.A. Longtime resident Calvin Butler (Cedric the Entertainer, left, with Greenfield), however, is not so happy with the demographic shift on the block. "Calvin's this big, gruff, tough, hard-to-get-to-know guy, and Dave's this guy who won't let up," says executive producer Jim Reynolds. "Dave is going to be Calvin's friend." Translation: Expect to cringe.

In the vein of Norman Lear classics like All in the Family, the series also explores race relations and prejudices—in a lighthearted way, of course. "This is a traditional sitcom," continues Reynolds, "a comfortable and welcoming vehicle to bring people into a safe space and then talk about some delicate issues." —JR

FBI

DICK WOLF IS highlighting his next group of heroes. The überproducer who's chronicled the lives of police and prosecutors (the Law & Order franchise, Chicago P.D.), first responders (Chicago Fire) and doctors (Chicago Med) turns his focus to the New York office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. "FBI is the biggest show we've done. It's more timely, fast-moving and very impactful," notes executive producer Peter Jankowski, Wolf's longtime collaborator. "It's not the local police, so stories will be dealing with more global issues. Dick said, 'If we can tell the story on a Law & Order, we don't want to tell it here.'"

The series kicks off with a bang—literally—as the Feds hunt for the culprit behind a brownstone explosion that results in a heartbreaking fatality. Among the good guys fighting against terrorism: special agents Maggie Bell (Missy Peregrym, above) and Omar Adom "OA" Zidan (Zeeko Zaki). Bell, a widow, comes from a family of law enforcement officers, while Zidan is a West Point graduate and former DEA agent who happens to be Muslim. As on Wolf's other series, the Feds' rich personal stories will also be explored when they get down to business. —Ileane Rudolph

THE DOORS ARE set to swing open at a unique medical center: Manhattan's (fictitious) New Amsterdam, which was inspired by Bellevue, the first public hospital in the United States. But does TV really need more doctor dramas? "That was my question when [creator David Schulner] came to me with the idea," says executive producer Peter Horton, a Grey's Anatomy alum who was won over by Schulner's approach. The creator explains, "The way The West Wing made me feel hopeful in our government—that's the spirit I wanted to capture."

The face of that hope is Dr. Max Goodwin (Ryan Eggold, above), a young medical director pushing to revolutionize the facility. "He is fast-paced, idealistic, fun," Schulner says. "[But] there's not enough time to see every patient, change every rule, help every doctor."

The various cases lead to topical storylines about immigration, gun violence and foster care. As Horton says, "It's a hospital show for this particular time." —John Russell

The Good Cop

PREMIERES
Friday, Sept. 21, Netflix

WHAT IF THE Odd Couple's Felix and Oscar solved crimes? Tony Caruso Sr. (Tony Danza) is a rule-breaking former cop, while his son/roommate, TJ (four-time Grammy nominee Josh Groban, far right, with Danza), is a by-the-book officer who won't cross the street if a broken light is stuck on red. As TJ embarks on unraveling case-of-the-week mysteries, his dad butts in and offers (unsolicited) advice. "We made the stories as playful as our characters," explains executive producer Andy Breckman (Monk). Danza and Groban give us the full report.

Josh, this is your first series. How's it going?
Groban: I've done cameos here and there [most recently on Crazy Ex-Girlfriend] and a year on Broadway [The Great Comet], but I've never done anything like this. I learned a lot from Tony Danza: We shot in the winter in Queens. I just told Josh, "Buck up!" But from the first moment, he didn't need advice. We were doing a scene with Josh's stunt double—a knock-down, drag-out fight—and I'm telling you, Josh does it better than the other guy. It looked real.
We know the characters are different, but how are they similar?
Groban: They each have an innate ability to look at a crime scene and see how things could've gone down. And there's light and dark in both of them. They do share the same DNA, after all.
Danza: That's the thing that bothers TJ so much—he sees [the similarities] himself.
And they're grieving. What can you say about the death of Tony's wife/TJ's mother?
Groban: She was killed in a hit-and-run. When she was lost, their world spun upside down.
Danza: It's a great story, isn't it?
Tony sings the show's theme song. Josh, will you be singing too?
Groban: I thought it would be funny if TJ was tone deaf and can't sing to save his life! He can play piano, though, so there's some father-son accompanying. —Jim Halterman

BIG CASTS AND SPRAWLING STORIES TO GET YOU HOOKED!

A Million Little Things

PREMIERES
Wednesday, Sept. 26, 10/9c ABC

EDITORS' PICK

DON'T CALL IT This Is Us...and More. ABC's new drama, about a tight-knit Boston squad rocked by a friend's suicide, is more thirtysomething meets The Big Chill: The heartache often shares space with much-needed humor. "Just when you think you can't take any more, the world gives you a reason to laugh," says executive producer DJ Nash. "You just have to be open to it." Here's the gang, including the one who leaves them wondering when it'll be OK to laugh again. —Damian Holbrook

MEET THE CAST

EDDIE
(David Giuntoli)
The Grimm alum's stay-at-home dad is a former rocker with seven years' sobriety under his belt—and a massive secret that simply screams self-sabotage. "He's not sure he deserves his sobriety," Nash says of the musician's insecurities. "His situation is complicated. We don't know everything about Eddie yet."

KATHERINE
(Grace Park)
Eddie's career-minded wife, a high-end attorney, isn't as chilly as she first appears. "You might think you don't like her, but you will find out stuff about her and...love her," promises Nash, noting that Katherine personifies the plight of the working mom. "She wants to be at home and also needs to provide for the family."

DELILAH
(Stephanie Szostak)
Nash wants all of the characters "to be broken in some way"—and no one is more broken in the premiere than Jon's stunned widow, whose grief is sure to be compounded by what she was doing when he ended his life. Adds Nash: "I also want them all to be innocent and guilty in some way."

SOPHIE
(Lizzy Greene)
Wearing a leather jacket and strumming a guitar, Jon and Delilah's daughter has the look of a moody teen—but her performance of Joni Mitchell's "Both Sides Now" at Jon's funeral hints at her having the same soulful quality that set her dad apart. That may change if she learns what music teacher Eddie is hiding.

JON
(Ron Livingston)
As the glue of the group, Jon had it all: a beautiful family, a thriving career and a great outlook on life. So why does he end his? On top of whatever pain is buried in Jon's backstory, Nash notes he fits a tragic profile in real life. "He is an affluent straight white male, and that is statistically the people who die from suicide the most."

GARY
(James Roday)
The class clown of the crew uses humor to handle his ongoing battle with male breast cancer—another illness that needs a volce, says Nash. "He's not even in remission," says Psych alum Roday. "That's, like, five years down the road." To deal with Jon's death, Gary will need more than punch lines. Maybe someone like...

MAGGIE
(Allison Miller)
A free spirit who meets (and hooks up with) Gary at a cancer support group, Maggie is immediately embraced by his friends after he brings her to Jon's funeral as his date. It doesn't hurt that she's a clinical psychologist specializing in depression. It does hurt that she isn't being 100 percent honest about her own health.

ASHLEY
(Christina Ochoa)
Jon's seemingly devoted assistant is the last one to see him alive and, because of some suspicious moves and her evasive interaction with Delilah at the postfuneral reception, the first one viewers will suspect of having something to hide. "You don't know if she's good or evil," Nash says. "Christina nails that mystery."

REGINA
(Christina Moses)
"In the black community, there's more of a hesitancy to talk about depression and suicide," says Nash, who deliberately wrote the aspiring chef character and her director husband, Rome, as African-Americans. "It's the marriage we root for," Nash adds, "but he feels like he can't share what he's going through."

ROME
(Romany Malco)
Regina's husband, a successful but unfulfilled commercial director struggling with the angst of not being the filmmaker he'd hoped to be, turns out to have the most in common with Jon. And Rome's problems just might kill him if he doesn't seek help. "Episode 2 is him walking in Jon's shoes," previews Nash.

All American

EDITORS' PICK

WHAT IS IT about high school dramas and Southern California? The sun, the wealth and the residents who look like models have provided great eye candy for many series (see Beverly Hills, 90210 and The O.C.). But the Los Angeles–set All American goes beneath that shiny surface. In the series, which is based on the true story of former New York Giants football player Spencer Paysinger (who serves as an executive consultant), ambitious teen Spencer James (Daniel Ezra) is a skilled player with dreams of NFL stardom. He gets the opportunity to leave rough South Crenshaw High when he's recruited by Coach Billy Baker (Taye Diggs) to play for a posh Beverly Hills high school. But this isn't simply another show about a character leaving his gritty past for greener pastures, says executive producer April Blair. "I love The O.C., but I don't want to do The O.C.," she explains. "I want to tell a story about someone navigating two worlds."

Spencer's biggest challenge is balancing life in his new ZIP code—he moves in with the Baker family in order to play for the town's school—with staying connected to his Compton-based working-class mother, Grace (Karimah Westbrook), 10-year-old brother, Dillon (Jalyn Hall), and BFF Tiana "Coop" Cooper (Bre-Z). This divide leaves Spencer feeling guilty about his new, upscale digs. "Getting out of that environment and not being able to take your loved ones with you is a difficult thing to put on a teenager's shoulders," Ezra says.

Matters of the heart will also be tackled, as the athlete is drawn to both his coach's newly sober daughter, Olivia (Samantha Logan), and straight-laced classmate Layla Keating (Greta Onieogou). And, of course, there will be plenty of action on the field too. Spencer's teammates include Baker's son Jordan (Michael Evans Behling) and the not-so-welcoming Asher (Cody Christian, above right, with Behling, Ezra and Hall), who is sure to stir up problems for the newcomer. As Blair calls it, the sports series is "90 percent drama and 10 percent soap." Hut, hut, hike! —Jim Halterman

Friday, Sept. 28, 8:30-/7:30c, Fox

THERE'S A NEW (old) gang in town. The Cool Kids features a quartet of seasoned actors portraying feisty residents at senior living community Shady Meadows. "It's retirement village shenanigans!" says Vicki Lawrence, who plays "sassy troublemaker" Margaret. Meet the foursome who make the twilight years truly sparkle. —Kate Hahn

CHARLIE (Martin Mull)
"At a point in your life, memory and imagination become interchangeable. For Charlie, that memory fuzz was chemically induced," says Mull (Veep), who plays the former hippie with a penchant for telling long tales. "I'm probably more like Charlie than I'd care to admit. I went to art school in the '60s. I'm fortunate to be alive and clean."

SID (Leslie Jordan)
The only things in Sid's closet are his loud, colorful clothes. "He's a gay guy who's comfortable in his own skin. With his straight friends, it's not an issue," explains Jordan (Will & Grace). "The character was originally written as a 73-year-old straight Jewish guy from Brooklyn. But I said in the audition, 'I'm gonna put a different spin on this.'"

MARGARET (Vicki Lawrence)
In the premiere, Margaret makes waves when she busts up the boys' club and sits with pals Charlie, Sid and Hank. "I treat them to a day of fun and they realize their group needs new energy," says Lawrence (The Carol Burnett Show). Before long, they're plotting to steal a TV from the rec room!

HANK (David Alan Grier)
Cranky Hank doesn't take kindly to Margaret pushing her way into the group. The resident alpha male thinks she is "destroying his kingdom," explains Grier (The Carmichael Show), the only cast member who wears old-age makeup. "But that's his generation. I know guys like this. They're set in their ways."

The Romanoffs

PREMIERES
Friday, Oct. 12, Amazon Prime Video

THAT COCA-COLA JINGLE hadn't even faded out in the 2015 Mad Men finale before viewers started wondering what creator Matthew Weiner's next TV act would be. After all, how do you follow a groundbreaking—and heartbreaking—creative triumph that won 16 Emmys and made household names of Jon Hamm and Elisabeth Moss? Look to Tsarist Russia, of course!

Weiner's big-budget The Romanoffs, a contemporary anthology shot on three continents with a different cast in each of its eight self-contained episodes, certainly sounds like a departure. But Amazon's much lighter series does share Mad Men's preoccupation with identity. The through-line for these disparate stories: characters claiming to be descendants of the Russian royal dynasty. (Tsar Nicholas II and his family were executed in 1918, although rumors persisted that one or more had managed to survive bullets, bayonets and knives.) "We're at a place in our history where people are looking for a close connection to their roots. There's great debate about who is a Romanoff and what happened to the Romanoffs," Weiner told Variety last year. "The story for me is that we're all questioning who we are and who we say we are."

The formidable cast includes Mad Men alums John Slattery (center), Christina Hendricks (bottom left) and Jay R. Ferguson (center right, with Kathryn Hahn), along with such names as Diane Lane, Aaron Eckhart, Amanda Peet, Corey Stoll and Griffin Dunne. Amazon is so jazzed, this will be its first series to stray from the binge-it-now release plan. After the first two episodes drop October 12, the rest will be released individually each Friday. That's worth a Stoli shot! —Jim Halterman

DOES THE SPY really love me? Intrigue meets warped romance in AMC's dark espionage thriller The Little Drummer Girl, a three-part series based on John le Carré's bestselling novel. Set in the 1970s, Girl centers on idealistic English actress Charlie (Florence Pugh). While vacationing in Greece, she's recruited as an agent by veteran Israeli spy Becker (Alexander Skarsgård, above, with Pugh), who's been sucked back into the game after a stint as an architect. (The pair's amorous nighttime visit to Athens' Acropolis is just one of the heady scenes shot at landmark Greek locations.) "Charlie is desperate for intrigue, for a life that is just a little more than what she has. She finds Becker both deeply annoying and deeply attractive," Pugh says. "But nothing prepares her for what comes. She's shocked and manipulated, over and over again."

The mission: Locate a Palestinian terrorist named Khalil (Charif Ghattas). With coldhearted spymaster Kurtz (Michael Shannon) demanding results, the man's brother is abducted and killed, and Becker assumes the deceased's identity. Then he and Charlie jet-set around Europe—"There's a lot of bling and unbuttoned shirts," teases Skarsgård—posing as lovers to draw Khalil out.

"We blur the line [in the relationship] between what's real and what's not," Skarsgård says. "Are they falling in love? How much is Becker manipulating her? Is he letting her believe that his real personality is coming through, or is he just pretending to open up so he can draw her even closer?"

After Khalil contacts Charlie, her assignment shifts to a terrorist camp, where, undercover, she trains as a killing machine. "I shot a lot of guns," recalls Pugh, who understood Charlie's divided loyalties as the character grows more sympathetic to the cause. "Emotionally, I found it tough," she adds. "I have no idea what it's like to live in [that world] around guns, bombs or your village getting hurt. Until the very end, you don't know what way Charlie's going to go." Let the games begin! —Kate Hahn

IF CAROLINE KEPNES'S 2014 page-turner about obsession and online stalking scared readers into changing their passwords, this unsettling adaptation will likely spark a social-media shutdown. Gossip Girl's Penn Badgley stars as Joe Goldberg, a New York City bookstore manager who's instantly smitten with a customer named Beck (Elizabeth Lail, above, with Badgley). At first, "he does what you or I might do," says executive producer Sera Gamble (The Magicians). "He Googles her, looks into her social media, walks by her yoga studio. Then cut to: He's sneaking into her apartment." Joe crosses every line imaginable to control Beck and isolate her from her best friend, Peach (Pretty Little Liars' Shay Mitchell), providing a chilling look at how toxic masculinity and a fragile ego can lead to madness. "There's truth to those stories you hear," Gamble notes of the timely theme. "Men are afraid they'll get laughed at, while women are afraid they'll be murdered." —Damian Holbrook

THIS HARROWING TRUE-CRIME tale of a romance gone fatally wrong, chronicled on a 2017 podcast, comes to TV in a limited series with Connie Britton as unsuspecting Orange County divorcée Debra Newell and Eric Bana as her dangerous grifter suitor, John Meehan. Bana (above, with Britton) offers a primer.

There's more to uncover. "Our challenge is to satisfy people who know everything and nothing about this case," says Bana, who, like Britton, is an executive producer. "We'll explore some new elements and pieces of information that weren't in the podcast."

It's a love story. You won't judge Newell for getting drawn in. "On the surface, John appeared normal. He was very practiced at manipulation," says Bana. "It's completely believable that an intelligent woman could fall for him."

What you see will haunt you. Says Bana: "Viewers are going to be left trying to wrap their heads around this." —Ingela Ratledge

THERAPIST, HEAL THYSELF! Psychologist Joy (Toni Collette) is still on the mend, physically and emotionally, after a near-fatal bicycle accident. And she has no intention of wasting her second chance: The wife and mom is expanding her horizons—and opening her marriage. Collette previews the drama.

What's inspiring Joy to shake up her status quo? The accident set in motion a lot of questions. She is really looking at how she wants to live. She'll begin to understand herself more deeply, but her actions might have lasting consequences.

Like the decision she and her husband (Steven Mackintosh) make to sleep with other people? It's done out of a shared determination to save their marriage. I think it's brave of them to look for ways of staying connected rather than not communicating.

Aside from lots of sex, what else will this odyssey entail? Grief. Guilt. Lack of control. But I must stress how warm and funny the journey is. Wanderlust is about being open to the adventure of life. Which, in this case, definitely involves both wondering and wandering! —Ingela Ratledge

The Kominsky Method

PREMIERES
Friday, Nov. 16, Netflix

EDITORS' PICK

DESPITE CREATING SUCH iconic sitcoms as Mom, The Big Bang Theory and its spinoff, Young Sheldon, Chuck Lorre doesn't want to consider himself TV's king of comedy. As the veteran producer puts it, "Kings get their heads chopped off." Not that his latest show, The Kominsky Method, is a traditional primetime comedy anyway. The tale of Sandy Kominsky (Michael Douglas, top right), a Los Angeles–based thespian who works as an acting coach, definitely has witty rejoinders and farcical situations, but it's also quite poignant, with some tissue-ready moments. "The show is about coming to grips with the reality of getting older," Lorre says. "It's also about friendship. It's about what happens if your dream doesn't come true and another dream comes up. And it's about the craft of acting, which I wanted to honor with the role of Sandy Kominsky."

The show's protagonist is a man who's made a mess of his family life. The thrice-divorced Lothario wasn't the most devoted father to his only child, Mindy (Big Little Lies' Sarah Baker), now the acting studio's receptionist. And despite the efforts of his cranky best friend and agent, Norman (Alan Arkin, bottom right), Sandy's acting career wasn't a huge success either. But he's done one thing well and that's create great actors. (In one scene, Sandy name-drops Faye Dunaway and Diane Keaton as some of his past students.) "One of the things I really appreciate," says Douglas, "is that despite Sandy's shortcomings, Chuck takes the character's career seriously."

Not too seriously, thankfully. There's plenty of humor explored in what Lorre calls "the enormous cultural gap" between Sandy and his wide-eyed, fresh-faced students, most of whom are five decades or so younger than him. "Those 50 years count for a great deal of cognitive dissonance," says the 65-year-old Lorre, who admits to mining his own life for inspiration. "This was a chance for me to write something that I'm living."

There is one mature adult in the class, the newly divorced Lisa (Nancy Travis, Last Man Standing). Lorre describes her as "more than a match for Sandy. She's sharper, smarter, faster and more grounded than he is." She also could tempt the teacher to break his no-dating-the-students policy.

Sandy's classes aren't the only moments that provide a perfect environment for Lorre's amusing and compassionate look at what Douglas, 73, calls "the absurdities of aging." It's all there, from the laugh-out-loud awkwardness of a prostate exam with a urologist played by Danny DeVito to the frustration with an adult child who has never really grown up (Lisa Edelstein recurs as Phoebe, Norman's pill-popping daughter) to the inevitable deaths of loved ones.

MIKE PARISH; NETFLIX (2)

MAARTEN DE BOER

Through it all, Sandy and Norman bicker, banter and rib each other like a couple of long-married spouses. Those wonderful scenes are helped by the natural chemistry between Douglas and fellow Oscar winner Arkin. They had never worked together in their combined century of experience but seem like a seasoned comic duo. "It was great casting," Douglas says of Arkin, "and I think that's what Chuck does so well if you look at all of his shows."

For Lorre, landing Douglas—who hasn't done more than a guest spot on series TV since he patrolled The Streets of San Francisco on ABC 40 years ago—was quite the coup too. The Emmy winner (he snagged a trophy for playing Liberace in the 2013 HBO film Behind the Candelabra) wasn't necessarily looking for a TV gig when he got the script, but he quickly fell in love with the creator's sharp take on Sandy. "For me, it's not a question of feature film or television. It's about really good writing. This is dark humor, the kind I love," Douglas sums up. "Like with my pictures Falling Down or The War of the Roses, in one moment we go from hilarity to tragedy. That's what life is all about." —Ileane Rudolph

HOMECOMING

THE SUSPENSE IS thrilling us. Homecoming, Amazon Prime Video's highly anticipated psychological drama, hits viewers with "an old-school Hitchcock vibe," promises executive producer Sam Esmail (Mr. Robot). It also delivers A-list talent: In her first leading role for series TV, Oscar winner Julia Roberts plays Heidi Bergman, a dedicated caseworker at the Homecoming Transitional Support Center, which helps soldiers readjust to a civilian existence.

The story jumps between the present, with Heidi being questioned by a Department of Defense official about her time at Homecoming, and four years prior, when she counseled hopeful veteran Walter Cruz (Stephan James). During her tenure at the facility, she suffered under a short-tempered boss, Colin Belfast (Bobby Cannavale), a guy who lives and breathes company policy, dreams in Excel spreadsheets...and takes advantage of unsuspecting vets.

The twisty story—adapted from a scripted podcast by Micah Bloomberg and Eli Horowitz, who also cowrote the series—"is a great, old-fashioned yarn," says Roberts (below, with onscreen boyfriend Dermot Mulroney). And yet it's more relevant than ever, adds Esmail. "We're more aware of corporate greed right now," he says. "Art is a sign of the times." —Kate Hahn

Escape at Dannemora

EDITORS' PICK

SERIOUSLY, YOU CAN'T make this stuff up. In 2015, convicted murderers Richard Matt and David Sweat escaped from the Clinton Correctional Facility in Dannemora, New York, with the help of Joyce "Tilly" Mitchell, a prison employee who had been seduced by both inmates. Now, the eight-episode scripted series Escape at Dannemora, produced and directed by Ben Stiller, is setting out to capture the bizarre tale in a relatable way. "It's a very human story, and an example of human interaction in an extreme situation," Stiller says.

Tackling the lead roles: Benicio Del Toro (above left, with Stiller) and Paul Dano as Matt and Sweat, with Patricia Arquette (far left) serving as the object of their affection. The events unfold in flashbacks, which were scripted using real transcripts from Mitchell's eventual interrogation by New York State Inspector General Catherine Leahy Scott (Bonnie Hunt). While the logistics of the prison break are riveting, the most compelling part for viewers may be trying to sort out this unorthodox love triangle. In the end, will Mitchell prove to be predator or prey? Teases Arquette, "She's a little bit of both." —Jim Halterman

JIM CARREY STARS as children's TV show host Mr. Pickles (real name: Jeff Piccirillo), a beloved national icon cut from the same cardigan as Mr. Rogers, in Showtime's quirky comedy-with-crying. Family tragedy has led to Jeff's wife, sweet nurse Jill (Judy Greer), dating another guy and tween son Will (Cole Allen) sniping at Dad's wussiness. To win them back, Jeff must overcome some of his darkness.

"At this point, I want to do things that matter to me. Kidding is filled with challenging themes and ideas. But it also has puppets! That gives the show buoyancy and a freedom that makes it fun," says Carrey (right), who reteams with Michel Gondry, director of his 2004 hit Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind.

Jeff's recovery plays out against the oddball behind-the-scenes goings-on at Mr. Pickles' Puppet Time, a multimillion-dollar family dynasty. His dad, Seb (Frank Langella), has no patience for his son's grief and just wants to protect the brand. "Kidding reminds people that no matter how far gone they think they are," Carrey says, "there's an innocence inside us that can't be destroyed." —Kate Hahn

Camping

MEET CONTROL FREAK, Instagram fusspot and surprisingly energetic chronic-pain sufferer Kathryn (Jennifer Garner). The L.A. mom organizes a hellish friends-and-family camping trip for understanding husband Walt's (David Tennant) 45th birthday in this HBO comedy, which was adapted from a British series by Girls exec producers Lena Dunham and Jenni Konner. What she doesn't make room for in the tight schedule: guests' disruptive personal woes (rocky relationships, painful memories, addiction) and a woman-on-woman crime. Garner, who played CIA superspy Sydney Bristow on the ABC hit Alias and starred in movies like 13 Going on 30 and Dallas Buyers Club, shares campfire stories.

Why is Kathryn so self-absorbed and controlling? She used to be fun but then she had health problems that doctors misdiagnosed, exploratory surgeries that went wrong and a hysterectomy. They became the focus of her life, but no one got it. She's aggressively defensive about her pain. The fun side went away, the controlling side went up. But she's in there somewhere.

With her kind of pain, there's no room for romance. How's her marriage? Walt's a super patient husband. We wear matching pajamas! Working with David Tennant is bliss. There's a day where Kathryn is on Adderall and we would go from the giggles to an emotional moment.

She's a far cry from tough Sydney Bristow. Did you intentionally set out to do something different? Not necessarily. I loved Sydney. She defines me to myself and created the definition of me for the world. There's nothing to get away from there. I just read this and was thrilled to bits to do it. The writing asks something different from me. I had a hard time saying the lines without laughing. That's good for the soul. Medical jargon has to roll off your tongue—that was joy.

Kathryn is tightly wound and always on the verge of losing it. Does she? She spends a lot of time hanging on by her fingernails. —KH

WHILE THE EMMY- and Golden Globe–winning actor's weekly interview series has a new name (it previewed in March as Sundays With Alec Baldwin), it certainly hasn't lost any of its cheeky charm. Just check out executive producer Jason Schrift's reasons for tuning in.

I have time to watch one more show. Why should it be yours?
Because you won't want to feel left out when all your friends are discussing it the next day.

Fill in the blank: If you like ____, you'll like my show.
How about: Even if you don't like Alec Baldwin, you'll still like my show.

What's a good alternate title for this series?
The Alec Baldwin Talks to Interesting People (and People You Didn't Know Were Interesting) and We Get to Spy on Them and Hear What They Are Saying Show

How will this change the face of television?
It will more likely bring back an original [facet] of broadcast television—one in which pure entertainment can be derived from the simplicity of watching two people talk to each other without any bells or whistles. Unless Alec [above, with Kate McKinnon] or the guest happens to have a bell or a whistle; then we will absolutely use them.

Who is your dream guest?
The president of the United States. —Damian Holbrook

HERE'S A PRESCRIPTION for some truly trippy television. Netflix's new comedic sci-fi drama centers on two lost souls—aimless, semi-employed New Yorker Annie Landsberg (Emma Stone) and schizophrenic Owen Milgrim (Jonah Hill, right, with Stone)—who meet and connect in a pharmaceutical company drug trial.

Both could use some help: Annie has witnessed her share of broken relationships, chiefly, those of her own parents and sister, and Owen wants to return to life as it was before the onset of his mental illness, which began with a psychotic break when he was in his 20s. The cryptically named drug U.L.P., which promises to accomplish all that psychotherapy would in just three days, may be the magic pill both Annie and Owen need. "It will fix any problem, mental illness, anxiety, heartache, loneliness, sadness," says executive producer Patrick Somerville.

U.L.P. works in a strange way, by making patients hallucinate and envision entirely different worlds. And although Annie and Owen start out as strangers, they somehow appear in each other's "reflections," the drugmaker's name for these altered realities. Scenarios range from tame ones (the two are married parents) to others involving medieval weaponry.

"THE DRUG WILL FIX ANY PROBLEM: MENTAL ILLNESS, ANXIETY..." —EXECUTIVE PRODUCER PATRICK SOMERVILLE

In more ways than one. "Every patient who goes through the trials has a confrontation with their darkest inner demons," Somerville says. "And they're also headed toward a confrontation with the lab itself." We're ready for our first dose. —Kate Hahn

Family Fun

GET TO KNOW THESE BOISTEROUS BROODS!

The Kids Are Alright

EDITORS' PICK

THE KIDS ARE Alright proves an axiom that hard times and humor go hand in hand. Set in the turbulent 1970s, the sitcom follows the Clearys, an Irish Catholic family in a working-class L.A. suburb. Dad Mike (Michael Cudlitz) and mom Peggy (Mary McCormack) are white-knuckling their way through raising eight boys (including, from near right: Sawyer Barth, Santino Barnard, Caleb Foote and Christopher Paul Richards). Money and patience are in short supply, but there's love to spare. The folks (above) weigh in. —Ingela Ratledge

HE SAID

MICHAEL CUDLITZ

What is Peggy and Mike's parenting style? Day to day and moment to moment! Mike is very much like my parents were: At times they had no idea what the hell they were doing, but they're not going to show that to anybody.

How are times tough for the Cleary family? I think this show is a nice reminder that even though there have been periods in history where everything is falling apart—gas prices are skyrocketing, the country is going to war—we made it through, no matter what.

Has this gig made you nostalgic for a bygone era? Oh, yeah, it's definitely brought me back to that time before air bags—all of the air bags we have in our life today. Things have gotten so politically correct.

SHE SAID

MARY McCORMACK

What is Peggy and Mike's parenting style? I have three kids myself, and if they're fed and breathing, it's a job well done! And in the '70s, some things just didn't get discussed. If I ever went to my dad to talk about feelings, he'd be like, "What are you, a communist?"

How are times tough for the Cleary family? There's a moment where I say, "Fetch some tinfoil out of the trash"—and then I start to iron it!

Has this gig made you nostalgic for a bygone era? Nostalgia is a mixed bag. It's great to think back on how kids used to ride around on their bikes and not come home until dinner. On the other hand, we've made progress. Seat belts save lives. I'm not putting my kids in a car without them!

THE CONNERS

KEEP ON KEEPING on. That's the goal for the Conner family in a new incarnation of the blockbuster sitcom Roseanne. (After racist tweets from creator and star Roseanne Barr, ABC canceled the revival in May, then opted to continue without her.) "It's going to be the same troublemaking, honest, authentic slice of a Midwestern working-class life it's always been," says exec producer Bruce Helford.

The Conners picks up not long after Roseanne's season finale, and the matriarch's absence "will be addressed in the first episode," says Helford. Meanwhile, middle daughter Darlene (executive producer Sara Gilbert) and her kids still live with dad Dan (John Goodman, above, with Gilbert), with frequent drop-ins from the rest of the clan. "Dan has to step up in a lot of ways," says Helford. "He holds his family together." But without Roseanne (not to mention her Uber income), Helford adds, "everyone takes up new responsibilities, which is really interesting in that family dynamic." Expect one great tradition to remain, though: the Halloween episode! —Jim Halterman

I FEEL BAD

WATCH MY SHOW

ON I FEEL Bad, self-loathing and LOLs go hand in hand. The sitcom centers around Emet (Sarayu Blue, left, with Paul Adelstein), a married mom of three and successful video-game developer in California's Bay Area who's trying to kill it at home and at work. Spoiler alert: Having it all isn't realistic, hence the title. Executive producer Aseem Batra makes a case for leaning in.

I have time to watch one more show. Why should it be yours?
Because it will tell you, "Don't feel bad for spending less time with your kids so you can watch more TV." Then you'll have time for two shows!

What's a good alternate title?
Those Annoyingly Happy People on Instagram Are Hiding Something.

Who should be watching I Feel Bad?
People who are tired of saying "I'm sorry," and 10 million Russian bots. And Oprah.

Will executive producer Amy Poehler do a guest spot?
She will if she wants to make my dreams come true, which I'm pretty sure is a life goal of hers. Amy's creative input has been so valuable: She helped ensure that Emet is empowered, not down and out. Emet examines her "feel bads" and instead of just taking it, she makes comedic moves to make everything go her way.

If I'm not a beleaguered working mother, will I still get it?
Sure. I enjoyed Dexter and I've only murdered, like, one serial killer. —Ingela Ratledge

FLIGHT 828 TAKES off from Jamaica in 2018 and safely lands in 2021 NYC, where the 191 passengers and crew learn they've been missing all those years and presumed dead. (That was some turbulence!) "One of the great debates is whether the disappearance can be explained by science or by faith," says executive producer Jeff Rake. Meet the people puzzling it out as they rebuild their interrupted lives. —Jim Halterman

SAANVI BAHL
(Parveen Kaur)
An 828 survivor and, it turns out, the architect of a medical cure for flightmate Cal's leukemia. "Saanvi is very much the hero of the pilot episode," Rake says. "But was it coincidence she was on this airplane?" Like Cal's dad, Ben, she looks to science for explanations.

GRACE STONE
(Athena Karkanis)
Flashbacks reveal how she handled the absence of husband Ben and one of her kids, Cal. "We will see her bottom out," Rake notes. Grace is hiding a new love—who is not going to slink away after Ben's return. Rake says picking a side will be "incredibly challenging."

MICHAELA STONE
(Melissa Roxburgh)
She comes back to find her guy, Jared, wed to her best friend! At least she's grown closer to polar opposite brother Ben. Says Roxburgh: "The plane mystery bonds them in a way no one else can understand." As does the fact that they're now hearing voices.

JARED VASQUEZ
(J.R. Ramirez)
When Michaela resumes her job as a cop, Detective Vasquez has to see heartache "right there in her face every single day," Roxburgh says. But as those out-of-nowhere voices help her solve cases, Rake explains, "Jared realizes there's more going on. He's burdened with her secret."

BEN STONE
(Josh Dallas)
"Ben is a solid family guy," Dallas says, "but he's obsessive, which can border on neglectful." After his miracle return, Ben hopes to make amends to wife Grace. Is it too late? As for the voices that plague him, says Rake, he'll soon learn "they cannot necessarily be trusted."

CAL STONE
(Jack Messina)
The young leukemia patient is no longer terminal! "It was important that at least one story be wish fulfillment," Rake says. Meanwhile, Cal's twin, Olive (Luna Blaise)—16 to his unchanged age of 10—"never believed he was gone," Rake adds. "That becomes pivotal in Episode 2."

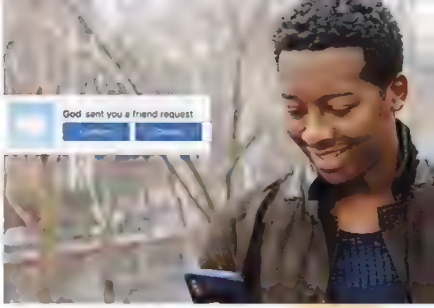
GOD FRIENDED ME



MILES FINER (BRANDON Micheal Hall, right) has friends in high places. Well, one very powerful friend in a very high place. Possibly. The atheist podcaster's world is rocked when he accepts a friend request from a social media user claiming to be God. The strange coincidences that follow lead Miles to journalist Cara Bloom (Violett Beane), and the pair set out to unmask whoever is behind "the God Account."

In their search, Miles and Cara reach out to those whose social media profiles are suggested to them by the God Account, putting them in contact with an array of strangers struggling with their own issues. "What [Miles and Cara] learn helps them in their own lives," says cocreator and executive producer Steven Lilien. The duo will also deal with personal problems, most notably Miles's fractured relationship with his dad (Joe Morton), an Episcopalian preacher. "The God Account makes Miles question how he sees the world and the way he expresses his message," cocreator Bryan Wynbrandt says. Despite the theological queries, "The show's not preachy," Wynbrandt adds. "It's a lighthearted but heartfelt approach to examining humanity." —John Russell

NORM MACDONALD HAS A SHOW

SERIES PREMIERE
FRIDAY, SEPT. 14

David Letterman, Drew Barrymore, Jane Fonda and Chevy Chase are just some of the guests dropping by to chat about life and other big topics with the former SNL funnyman (below). Longtime pal and fellow comedian Adam Eget takes on the time-honored sidekick role.

NEW SEASON

ATYPICAL

SEASON TWO PREMIERE
FRIDAY, SEPT. 7

The sweetly touching dramedy returns with 10 new episodes about teenager Sam (Keir Gilchrist), who is on the autism spectrum, and his quest for independence. Last year, that entailed navigating the tricky world of dating, and it continues now as he contemplates applying for college. At home, Sam has a supportive, albeit overprotective, family, including cool sister Casey (Brigette Lundy-Paine) and parents (Jennifer Jason Leigh and Michael Rapaport, above left, with Gilchrist and Lundy-Paine) who are dealing with a huge rift in their marriage.

MOVIE PREMIERE
FRIDAY, SEPT. 7

Better call tech support! In this colorful animated adventure, a young girl accidentally stumbles upon a top-secret, intelligent robot equipped with dangerous and futuristic weaponry. Lucky for her, it seems nice and just wants to be friends, which is exactly what the alienated and lonely kid needs. Next thing you know, they're embarking on a crazy ride together, fighting off evil robots and thwarting the plans of a mad scientist. And, if they can manage it, possibly preventing a huge disaster from taking place. Charlyne Yi, John Krasinski, Jason Sudeikis, Constance Wu, Michael Peña and David Cross supply their voices.

THE LAND OF STEADY HABITS

FRIDAY, SEPT. 14

After retiring from his finance gig, Anders Hill (Ben Mendelsohn) faces a late-in-life identity crisis. Sure, he's had a lot of successes, but it's all left him feeling unsatisfied and hollow. Is there more out there for a guy like him? That question will lead Hill down a rabbit hole that causes massive upheaval for his upscale Connecticut family. He leaves his wife (Edie Falco, left, with Mendelsohn) and tries to find happiness through relationships with other women and an unlikely friendship with a teen drug addict (Charlie Tahan). Not surprisingly, none of that sits too well with Hill's adult son (Thomas Mann). As he continues on his shame spiral, suddenly his former life in Connecticut doesn't look so bad. But is it too late for him to get it back? Nicole Holofcener (Enough Said) directs this adaptation of Ted Thompson's highly praised 2014 novel.

MARVEL'S IRON FIST

SEASON 1 PREMIERE

FRIDAY, SEPT. 7

With Season 1's villainous organization the Hand now defeated, master martial artist Danny Rand (Finn Jones, above) is taking on new threats in New York's Chinatown. But his biggest challenge will come from someone he considers family: Davos (Sacha Dhawan), the only other survivor of the now destroyed city of K'un-Lun, where Danny gained the mystical might of the Iron Fist. "This season is about yin and yang," explains new showrunner M. Raven Metzner (Sleepy Hollow), adding that Davos feels the title should be his. "Danny and Davos have very different ideas about what the Iron Fist means." Their battle will be epic—which is what you might expect from two guys who have literally brawled with dragons. ("We really evolved our fight scenes," Metzner says of the action-packed new season.)

Meanwhile, Danny's ninja girlfriend, Colleen Wing (Jessica Henwick), is trying to save wayward teens from a life of crime—if they don't kill her first. Another menace will come from seemingly nice Mary (Alice Eve), who is hiding some nasty personalities in her conflicted brain. Comic readers will recognize her as telekinetic mutant Typhoid Mary, one of several fun surprises in store for Marvel enthusiasts. Metzner notes, "I hope comics fans watch this season and know how much I love the same stuff they do." —John Hogan

AMERICAN VANDAL

SEASON 2 PREMIERE

FRIDAY, SEPT. 14

The second season of the true-crime mockumentary series takes its investigative prowess to a private Catholic high school and a string of crimes perpetrated by someone called the "Turd Burglar." (Yep, expect gross-out humor.) Filmmaker Peter Maldonado (Tyler Alvarez) and his second-in-command, Sam (Griffin Gluck, left), have their cameras ready to roll yet again.

THE PUNISHER

The Walking Dead's Jon Bernthal fights the worst criminals around—and he's not against using deadly force.

LUKE CAGE

Harlem's superstrong hometown hero (Mike Colter) brings justice to the streets he loves. A great cast, including Golden Globe winner Alfre Woodard, elevates the thought-provoking drama.

JESSICA JONES

With a near 90 percent approval on Rotten Tomatoes, Jessica Jones balances edgy noir and wit while the title hero (Krysten Ritter) faces foes like the mind controlling Kilgrave (David Tennant).

DAREDEVIL

Daredevil—aka blind lawyer Matt Murdock (Charlie Cox, above)—defends Hell's Kitchen using heightened senses and superhuman sonar.

THE DEFENDERS

Some dangers are too great for one hero. Jessica Jones, Luke Cage, Iron Fist and Daredevil unite to triumph over the evil Alexandra (an excellent Sigourney Weaver).

SIERRA BURGESS IS A LOSER

MOVIE PREMIERE
FRIDAY, SEPT. 7

At last, justice for Barb! Shannon Purser (right), who played the doomed fan favorite on Stranger Things, has landed her first leading role in this high school–set adaptation of Cyrano de Bergerac, the 19th-century play about mistaken identity. She stars as college-bound Sierra, who strikes a deal with mean cheerleader Veronica (Kristine Froseth) to help her win over cute football player Jamey (Noah Centineo). Having top billing on the movie spooked Purser, who admits, "I could have played a tree and still been nervous!"

First off, Sierra's not a loser! She holds her own against bullies, and she's nice! I related. She could have been super self-conscious and insecure, but she's just a teenager trying to find her place in the world, look beyond societal expectations and embrace herself.

Is she anything like awkward teen Barb? They're both out of their depth. They want to stay true to themselves but get approval from others. Interacting today is so different than the '80s [when Stranger Things is set]. Social media plays a big part in this movie.

At first Jamey thinks he's texting Veronica, not Sierra. But boy, do they have chemistry! Right off the bat! They have similar senses of humor. Both try to play it cool, but they're big nerds. They're sensitive. He's more complex than a lot of jocks seem.

Veronica's frazzled mom is played by Chrissy Metz (This Is Us). Is she a role model? Being a plus-size woman in the industry is difficult. There aren't as many parts; we get typecast. To see somebody succeeding and self-confident was inspiring! —Kate Hahn

BOJACK HORSEMAN

SEASON 5 PREMIERE
FRIDAY, SEPT. 14

Everyone's favorite chronically depressed, alcoholic talking horse, BoJack (voiced by Will Arnett), gets a shot at redemption on the fifth season of this animated adult comedy. The washed-up actor is starring in a new detective series produced by former girlfriend Princess Carolyn (Amy Sedaris). Will it last?

We're guessing BoJack will find some way to screw things up. GLOW's Alison Brie, Breaking Bad's Aaron Paul and comedian Paul F. Tompkins also lend their voices to the show's wacky characters.

THE WORLD'S MOST EXTRAORDINARY HOMES

SEASON 2 PREMIERE
FRIDAY, SEPT. 14

British architect Piers Taylor and actress Caroline Quentin once again offer a tour of seriously stunning houses that take the idea of rooms with a view to new heights. (Think: homes built on cliff tops, like Nova Scotia's Two Hulls, right.) This season, they visit far-flung locations such as Portugal and Japan to check out architectural marvels that maximize the gorgeous local scenery.

FOREVER

FRIDAY, SEPT. 14

Former Saturday Night Live standouts Fred Armisen and Maya Rudolph (above) partner to play Oscar and June, a loving and long-married couple whose life is so routine that June's suggestion of changing up their annual lake house vacation to go skiing is a shocking departure. "June is happy, but she wants to break out of the pattern of her life," says Matt Hubbard, who serves as an executive producer on the show with fellow Parks and Recreation veteran Alan Yang. "That's her journey through the series. Oscar, on the other hand, is so averse to any conflict that it's detrimental to him living his life."

Needless to say, the mountain sojourn changes their lives forever. "The emotional core of the show is about whether long-term relationships can be sustainable, and if so, how?" Yang hints. While that sounds like serious subject matter, Forever is a comedy. Just don't expect to see Armisen and Rudolph hamming it up SNL-style. "We wanted to explore sides of the costars that haven't been seen as much," explains Yang. "It's like you're watching Fred and Maya in a show that's like a funnier David Lynch movie." —Ileane Rudolph

Zero gravity, countless obstacles! On this cinematic drama, Sean Penn plays an astronaut who stares down challenge after challenge on his quest to explore the Red Planet

MISSION TO MARS

THE FIRST

FRIDAY, SEPT. 14

SEAN PENN REACHES for the stars on his TV series debut, aptly titled The First. In this ambitious drama about the maiden manned voyage to Mars, the two-time Oscar winner (inset, right) plays Tom Hagerty, a distinguished astronaut recently fired from the project, which is headed up by obsessive entrepreneur Laz Ingram (Designated Survivor's Natascha McElhone, center) under a contract with NASA.

As the series opens, the launch is continuing without its star crew member, and we're plunged into the tense final moments of preparation at the New Orleans–area site. The astronauts do one last systems check, strap themselves in and count down—three...two...one—to blast off for the two-and-a-half-year mission to our neighboring planet. The atmosphere is filled with exhilaration, pride of accomplishment, great anticipation and, as always, a keen awareness of the life-and-death risks that lie ahead. "There's something relentless in the human spirit about venturing toward the horizon, whether that's reaching another planet, crossing an ocean or climbing a mountain," says executive producer Beau Willimon (House of Cards). "The First is about that need and that journey expressed through our characters."

Like Space X's Elon Musk, Ingram is CEO of a company called Vista and a visionary "who has great passion to achieve her goal," says Willimon. "I wanted to shake up the status quo of male entrepreneurs that has dominated the space industry and invent someone wholly our own."

> "I'M INTERESTED IN TELLING A STORY WHERE YOU SEE THE FULLNESS OF HUMAN POTENTIAL."
> —EXECUTIVE PRODUCER BEAU WILLIMON

The result is a smart, complicated woman who lacks outward warmth. "Laz has her position because of her intelligence and ideas, not because of any relation with a man," McElhone confirms, adding that she found The First "deeply seductive" because "no character is all bad or all good. They have incredible ambitions and are uncompromising in what they want to achieve. In Laz's case, she is willing to do whatever it takes, and that may make her unpopular." Particularly because she's an engineer whose laser focus is on technical problem solving—not interacting with other people.

To give her project added validity and a friendly face, she leaned on the much beloved Commander Hagerty. "Tom is one of those people who was put on this planet for a specific purpose, and his purpose is to get farther from Earth than any human being has ever before," Willimon says. Though he'd been bounced from the program following an ill-advised decision, Ingram needs him to help handle the aftermath of an unexpected event that threatens Vista's future.

Getting him back on board won't be easy. Hagerty's estranged daughter (Anna Jacoby-Heron), a drug addict, reenters his life, pledging a new start. "That is something he'll have to juggle," Willimon adds. "What are Tom's obligations to his life on Earth versus his obligations to fulfill his destiny? That's a profound struggle."

The second star astronaut in Vista's universe is experienced commander Kayla Price (LisaGay Hamilton, House of Cards). "Even in 2030, it's a rarity for a woman of color who's married to another woman to reach such heights," says Hamilton. Price has been training astronauts, but there is still a looming question for her: Where will she fit if and when Hagerty decides to return?

At its heart, The First is a 180-degree turn from Willimon's last hit, House of Cards, Netflix's cynical political thriller about the backstabbing Underwoods. "I'm interested in telling a story where you see the fullness of human potential beyond reasons that seem self-serving," he says. "These people are trying to do something extraordinary." —Ileane Rudolph

The Hungover Games 2014 (Sony Crackle)
★½☆☆☆
A ho-hum parody tries to skewer The Hangover and The Hunger Games.

Hustle & Flow 2005 (Amazon Prime Video)
★★★½☆
A pimp (Terrence Howard) dreams of becoming a rapper.

Jerry Maguire 1996 (Amazon Prime Video, Hulu)
★★★★½
Tom Cruise gives one of his best performances as a cocky sports agent.

The King and I 1956 (HBO Now)
Yul Brynner commands the screen in Rodgers and Hammerstein's musical.

Miami Vice 2006 (Amazon Prime Video)
No neon-colored clothes here: The 1980s series gets a gritty makeover.

Primal Fear 1996 (Amazon Prime Video, Hulu)
This twisty murder mystery stars Richard Gere and Laura Linney.

Reno 911: Miami 2007 (HBO Now)
The silly series hits the big screen.

Risky Business 1983 (Sony Crackle)
★★★½☆
A wealthy teen (Tom Cruise) goes wild while his parents are away.

Robin Hood: Prince of Thieves 1991 (Amazon Prime Video)
★★★½☆
Kevin Costner portrays the 15th-century British do-gooder.

Running With Scissors 2006 (Sony Crackle)
A kid comes of age in a dysfunctional family.

Scarface 1983 (Netflix)
A Cuban refugee becomes a drug kingpin in Miami.

Sherlock Holmes 2009 (HBO Now)
Director Guy Ritchie puts his violent spin on the iconic crime solver.

Sixteen Candles 1984 (Hulu)
An angsty teen pines for a popular guy.

Sleepless in Seattle 1993 (Amazon Prime Video)
Tom Hanks and Meg Ryan headline Nora Ephron's rom-com.

There Will Be Blood 2007 (Amazon Prime Video)
Prospectors battle over oil fields. "I drink your milkshake" never sounded creepier.

What's Eating Gilbert Grape 1993 (Hulu)
Obstacles keep a young man (Johnny Depp) stuck in small-town Iowa.

Sunday, Sept. 2

The English Patient 1996 (Hulu)
This epic, Oscar-winning love story features Ralph Fiennes.

Future World 2018 (Amazon Prime Video)
Anything goes in a postapocalyptic society.

Lilo & Stitch 2002 (Netflix)
A cute animated comedy for kids and adults alike.

The Mummy 2017 (HBO Now)
A thief opens an Egyptian tomb, releasing evil into the world. Oops.

Saturday, Sept. 8

The Greatest Showman 2017 (HBO Now)
★★★½
A toe-tapping musical take on P.T. Barnum.

Saturday, Sept. 15

Pitch Perfect 3 2017 (HBO Now)

Based on the beloved works of the brilliant Charles M. Schulz, with music from the classic Christmas special!

Features a delightful cast of hand-painted Peanuts® characters, three levels of rotating movement, lights AND music!

LIGHTS! MUSIC! ACTION!

A PEANUTS CHRISTMAS!

A first-ever Peanuts MASTERPIECE!

Celebrate the season with all your favorite Peanuts characters—Charlie Brown, Snoopy, Lucy, Linus™ and more—just as you remember them. Hand-cast and hand-painted, this illuminated 3-D sculpture captures all the fun of A Peanuts Christmas!

The Peanuts Holiday Express (driven by Snoopy), the sisters, and Snoopy and Woodstock's Ice Resurfacer move around the beautifully illuminated tree. Up on top, beneath the lighted star, stands Charlie Brown's famous Pathetic Tree. You'll even hear music from the Christmas special's memorable piece playing in the background. You and your family will treasure this wonderful holiday centerpiece for years and years to come!

BETTER THAN BOTOX:

Takes 10 Years Off Your Face in Just 10 Minutes

Dr. Al Sears with fellow physician Dr. Oz in Palm Beach Gardens, Florida.

Women are raving about the life-changing effects of this powerful formula.

There's no denying that people — mostly women — are on a mission to discover the best way to eliminate fine lines and wrinkles permanently. The $14 billion dollars spent on aesthetic procedures in 2016 alone is a clear indication of that fact.

But now science appears to be offering a simpler solution. It's a special delivery technology adapted for skincare that gets superior results.

Known as advanced liposome technology, this powerful distribution system ensures that vital nutrients are delivered exactly where your skin needs them the most, providing your skin with maximum anti-aging benefits

New Age-Defying 'Dermal Filler' Cream in High Demand

Al Sears, MD, of Palm Beach, Florida, recently released an anti-aging cream that adapts this breakthrough medical technology into the realm of skincare, and he's struggling to keep up with consumer demand.

Dr. Sears is South Florida's leading anti-aging pioneer. He has authored over 500 reports, scientific papers, and books on anti-aging. A frequent lecturer at global anti-aging conferences, Dr. Sears recently spoke at the WPBF 25 Health & Wellness Festival featuring Dr Oz, along with special guest, Suzanne Somers. Thousands of people were in attendance as Dr. Sears discussed his latest anti-aging breakthroughs.

This powerful cream, known as Restore, keeps selling out faster than it's produced — and people are raving about the effect it's having on their skin

"Within a few minutes of applying the cream, it visibly plumps out the under-eye area and my cheeks as well as those annoying lines that deepen as we age between the nose and lips. It also felt like it was tightening and smoothing my skin at the same time. I definitely feel I look younger whenever I use it," said Amy B., of Montville, New Jersey.

"The lines around my mouth and eyes are filled in and my skin is tightened. I love having younger-looking skin, so I will continue using Restore" raves Cathy C , of Florida.

The best part is that this cream has no adverse side effects, doesn't require a doctor's visit or prescription, and is 100% natural

Powerful Delivery System Ensures Nutrients Penetrate Deep into Your Skin

The dermis is the underlying layer of skin that supplies nourishment and oxygen, and removes waste. In other words, it's responsible for keeping your outer layer of skin healthy. Liposome technology is designed to support and nourish this deeper layer of skin by delivering nutrients directly to it

"All of Restore's powerful ingredients are encapsulated in a liposome shell — an organic container that carries the beautifying agents deep into the skin cells," explained Dr. Sears

"Advanced liposome technology ensures that vital nutrients are delivered exactly where your skin needs them the most."

"Restore's liposome shell is composed of phosphatidylcholine or PC for short. While cell membranes repel water, they absorb PC because they're actually made of it. As a result, Restore is delivered deep into the cell for maximum firming and volume."

When you apply liposome cream to your face, the liposomes in the skin cream work their way inside your skin, fuse with the skin cell membranes and then release their contents directly to the cells. Regular skin creams don't have this capability

A Formula Designed to Take 10 Years off Your Face in Just 10 Minutes

Once it's penetrated the deeper layer of skin, Restore releases a unique blend of botanicals, vitamins and essential oils that reduces the appearance of fine lines and wrinkles, gives skin a more even tone, and moisturizes the interior layers of your dermal cells, firming and plumping your skin.

Restore's first skin-enhancing agent is Madonna lily leaf stem cell extract. It helps produce an even-toned complexion. In a clinical study reported in the Journal of Cosmetic Dermatology, participants treated with this extract for 28 days showed improvements in skin luminance and tone around the eyes.

Restore is also loaded with vitamin C, which British researchers have found reduces both wrinkles and dryness. "In Restore we use magnesium ascorbyl phosphate, a more stable form of vitamin C that doesn't break down in liquid as does ordinary C," explains Dr. Sears. "That means the antioxidant molecules stay intact within your skin cells where they can prevent damage from dangerous free radicals "

This powerful formula also features guarana seed extract, coenzyme Q10, and avocado oil. Japanese researchers have also found that coenzyme Q10 supports production of the thin membrane that separates layers of your skin, and French studies have shown that avocado oil improves skin cell metabolism and enhances skin thickness

Where To Get Restore

Right now the only way to get this powerful age-defying delivery technology is through Dr. Sears

To get life-changing results like Amy and Cathy, buyers should contact the Sears Health Hotline at 1-888-984-3313 within the next 48 hours "We simply don't have enough supply to get Restore shipped directly to stores," said Dr. Sears. "The hotline allows us to ship the product directly to the customer – the one who really wants it."

Dr. Sears feels so strongly about this product, that he offers a 100% money-back guarantee on every order. "Just send back the bottle and any unused product within 90 days, and I'll send you your money back," said Dr. Sears.

The hotline will be taking orders for the next 48 hours. After that, the phone number will be shut down to allow them to restock.

Call 1-888-984-3313 to secure your limited supply of Restore. You don't need a prescription, and those who call in the first 24 hours qualify for a significant discount. To take advantage of this great offer use Promo Code TVG0918RS when you call in.

The goal of Sudoku is to fill in every empty box with one of nine letters. Each letter can appear only once in each horizontal row, as well as in every vertical column and in each of the 3x3 grids. Each finished puzzle will contain the spelling of a TV star, character, setting or show. Last issue's puzzle, about the setting for the series The Librarians, contained the letters A D L M N O P R and T. The finished grid spelled out Portland.

The setting for the HBO drama Succession appears in this issue's puzzle at left. It has the letters A E K N O R S W and Y.

CHEERS & JEERS

BY DAMIAN HOLBROOK @damianholbrook

Cheers to Trial & Error

for its sustained appeal. Season 2's "Lady, Killer" case was such a criminally fun platform for Kristin Chenoweth's kooky defendant and the entire ensemble cast (Sherri Shepherd, left, slayed!) that we will be raising several objections if NBC doesn't bring it back next summer.

Cheers to Suits

for playing its ace. After the exits of Patrick J. Adams and Meghan Markle, plus Katherine Heigl's knockout arrival, it's cool the show still knows it's at its best when Gabriel Macht's multilayered Harvey (right) confronts the Specter family ghosts, as he did recently while handling his unfaithful brother's divorce

Jeers to a Designing Women reboot.

Between Pose, RuPaul's Drag Race and Riverdale's Cheryl Blossom, TV's top divas these days are true originals. Go cook up something fresh and leave the classic comedy about sassy Georgia peaches (right) alone. You can't improve on perfection.

Jeers to The Affair

for cheating Alison out of a happy ending. The only thing worse than making it look like Ruth Wilson's character killed herself was the reveal that she'd been offed by her beau (Ramon Rodriguez). TV needs to stop passing off violence against women as a plot twist.

LOVE IT | HATE IT!

Cheers to The Late Late Show

for being a Grande ol' time. Thanks to double shots of guest Ariana Grande during the week of August 13—for a musical Titanic spoof, then a "Carpool Karaoke"—host James Corden gave the tiny belter a chance to remind viewers that she is as funny as her vocals are fierce.

Cheers to Amazing Interiors

for totally drawing us in. Like the addictive Grand Designs, Netflix has found another unscripted series—this time, about folks who've gone wild with their home decor—that is both binge-worthy and mind-boggling.

Jeers to toxic fandoms for going batty. Shortly after being cast as Batwoman for this winter's Arrowverse crossover on The CW, gender-fluid actress Ruby Rose was run off Twitter by haters screeching that she wasn't the right pick to play a lesbian superhero. Just wait until they find out that she doesn't know Bruce Wayne either.

jitterbug flip

Easier is better with the Jitterbug.

The Jitterbug® Flip, from the creators of the original easy-to-use cell phone, has big buttons and an exclusive 5Star® Urgent Response button on the keypad.

EASY TO USE Today, cell phones are hard to hear, difficult to dial and overloaded with features you may never use. That's not the case with the Jitterbug Flip. A large screen and big buttons make it easy to call family and friends. The powerful speaker ensures every conversation will be loud and clear. Plus, straightforward YES and NO buttons make navigating the menu simple.

Plans as low as $14.99/month

EASY TO ENJOY Wherever you go, a built-in camera makes it easy and fun for you to capture and share your favorite memories. And a flashlight with a built-in magnifier helps you see in dimly lit areas. With all the features you need, the Jitterbug Flip also comes with a long-lasting battery, so you won't have to worry about running out of power.

EASY TO BE PREPARED Life has a way of being unpredictable, but you can be prepared in any uncertain or unsafe situation with 5Star Service. Simply press the 5Star button to speak immediately with a highly-trained Urgent Response Agent who will confirm your location, evaluate your situation and get you the help you need, 24/7.

The Jitterbug Flip is one of the most affordable cell phones on the market and comes with dependable nationwide coverage. Friendly customer service representatives will help figure out which phone plan is best for you, and with no contracts or cancellation fees, you can switch plans anytime. You can even keep your current landline or cell phone number. Celebrate Grandparent's Day and get 25% off until September 29th.
